

The PEI Kiwanis Music Festival proudly presents

A National Music Festival Fundraising Concert for Emerging Artists

Monday, July 20th

7:00 p.m.

Steel Recital Hall, U.P.E.I.

ENTRY BY DONATION

Performers at the National Festival have up to 45 minutes of competition performance time. This evening, each has selected a portion of their festival repertoire to share with you.

The proceeds from tonight's concert will help offset travel expenses for the musicians performing this evening as they represent Prince Edward Island at the National Music Festival in Sackville, New Brunswick, this weekend. Not all PEI representatives were able to participate in tonight's fundraiser.

THANK YOU!

Special thanks to Dale Sorensen and the UPEI Music Department, whose continued support has been instrumental in running our provincial festival, and to the accompanists, teachers, volunteers, supporters, and audience members for making this event possible.

Best wishes to all our P.E.I. representatives for Emerging Artist at the National Music Festival.

You can find the complete schedule and tickets for the National Festival events on their website: <https://fcmf.org/national-music-festival-2026/>. For updates, visit www.peikmf.ca or follow PEIKMFA on Facebook.

Help Keep Music Festivals Thriving on P.E.I.

Can You or Someone You Know Help Us Shape the Next Generation of Musicians?

The Kiwanis Music Festival of P.E.I. helps musicians of all ages learn, perform, and grow through local and provincial festival programs.

Our festivals exist because of community support. Today, we face an important challenge: recruiting the next generation of volunteers and supporters to help sustain these opportunities for Island musicians.

You don't need to be a musician or music teacher to get involved. From ticket sales and event planning, to accounting, fundraising, marketing, communications, sponsorships, and community outreach, there are many ways to contribute.

Whether you can volunteer your time, share your expertise, build community partnerships, or make a donation, your support will help ensure that music festivals continue to inspire, educate, and connect Islanders for generations to come.
